

Alright, listen up! This notice applies to all the awesome stuff we send your way as part of our various mentoring programs and products. We're talking documents, audio and video recordings, images, worksheets, and anything else we create and distribute here at Brian R. King International, Inc.

Just so you know, unauthorized reproduction, distribution, or modification of our materials is a major no-no and could result in some serious legal action. But we trust that our clients are cool peeps who wouldn't dream of doing such a thing!

If you've purchased or enrolled in our mentoring programs and products, you're all set to use these materials for your own personal use. Just don't go sharing them with others without getting our permission first, okay? We promise we won't bite!

By participating in our mentoring programs and using our products, you're agreeing to respect our intellectual property rights and play by the copyright rules. Thanks a bunch for your cooperation and understanding!

Thanks for being you,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Brian R. King". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

Brian R. King, MSW